For young people with allergies, intolerances or other medical dietary needs, it is important that they develop the skills to make safe food choices in all settings, including school. Chartwells encourage students to take responsibility for managing their dietary requirements in secondary education, where they can make informed choices about what, when and where to eat. To support this, allergen information for all dishes is available in the canteen and students are encouraged to ask staff if they are unsure. Nutritional details, such as carbohydrate counts for medical reasons, can also be provided.

For students with complex needs or those unable to manage their diet independently, Parents/ Carers should contact the Chartwells Medical Diets team at hampshiremedicaldiets@compass-group.co.uk for advice and support.

We are confident that this change will enhance the dining experience for all students. From Easter onwards, menus and items will be reviewed in consultation with the School Council. This process is an important part of our commitment to student voice.
