GOOD NEWS

Ofsted – MARCH 2025

The Hamble School is a happy, inclusive and calm place to learn.

Pupils embrace the school's high expectations for their behaviour.

Pupils are courteous, friendly and considerate of others.

Pupils enjoy coming to school. They like the positive ethos and the many ways to celebrate success.

'Proud Fridays', when pupils showcase their hard work and determination, are especially popular.

Pupils are encouraged to develop their talents and interests, for example by joining one of the school's many after-school sports clubs or performance groups.

The school is ambitious for pupils' achievement. The curriculum in several subjects has been revised.

There is a consistent approach to teaching. Disruption to learning is rare. Consequently, pupils remember more of what they are taught, and academic outcomes are improving.

Some highly bespoke provisions within the school help a small minority of pupils who need extra support to improve their behaviour, mental health or learning.
